When you put autistic people in categories like "high functioning" and "low functioning", it is ableist & dehumanizing. Every autistic person deserves respect no matter how much support you think we might need.